SEAL Getting On and Falling Out.

Knowing what being a good friend means. Listening well. Making others feel good by giving complements. Knowing what to say when someone complements me. Seeing things from another person's point of view. Working well in a group and assessing this.

Managing feelings—anger. To know when I am starting to feel angry and what happens on the inside and on the outside of my body. To know some ways of calming down. Resolving conflict. Making up with a friend after falling out. Peaceful problem solving. Improving conflict situations. Use starter quiz where appropriate.

Links with Life Skills BPM— to work on my own to solve problems. To take part in the decision making process within a group situation. To set simple realistic targets for myself in the short term with help.

British Value—Acceptance, linked to being a good friend, accepting each other and their decisions.

Assessment through discussion, questioning, observation and work produced. One piece of prose about friendship.
