SLE OVERVIEW

We have 6 SLEs that are in the alliance, all of which are currently 'dormant'. We are proposing that in order for them to experience going out into schools all SLE work that is between alliance schools (up to 2 days) is free of charge. If you wish to take advantage of this offer please email agnusdei@stbons.org with a brief overview of your request and the best contact for them.

Daniel Jenkins

Daniel has been teaching for 25 years and in that time and has spent a great deal of it mentoring others. He ran the English department at St Thomas More for 10 years and now works in the Teaching and Learning department as the Teaching and Learning leader where his role is to oversee the training of staff, whether it be whole school, small group or at an individual level. Every student has a right to learn, a right to be taught by competent professional teachers who know their subject, care about the progress of the pupils and know how to make this happen in the classroom and he thoroughly enjoys the opportunity to develop the craft of teaching with practical and proven methods based upon research and practice within the classroom. Daniel specialises in:

- Leadership of CPD
- Leadership of Curriculum

Nick Jobbins

Nick is Assistant Headteacher, Director of Inclusion and Safeguarding Lead. He has been awarded a National Award for SEN Co-ordination and has a MEd in Perspectives on Special Needs and Inclusion. He has delivered a wide range of CPD on SEND, Inclusion and Safeguarding and is well versed in the latest research in working with children with SEND. He specialises in:

- Working with learners with SEND
- Differentiation
- Positive Behaviour Management
- Safeguarding
- Mental Health and Wellbeing

Andy Lewis

Andy is Assistant Headteacher, Director of RE who has previously held both curriculum and pastoral roles. He has led the change of Key Stage 3 curriculum in two schools from ICONS to The Way, The Truth and The Life including the implementation of resources, assessments and levelling. He has also lead the change and implementation of the new Edexcel GCSE and A Level in his current post. As part of this, he has delivered GCSE CPD in a number of schools and lead working parties for both GCSE and A Level. Metacognition and its implications for planning and assessment are an interest of Andy's and he has delivered sessions for staff, students and parents on effective revision. He has devised KS4 Citizenship and PHSE programmes, provided CPD on the role of the form tutor and his resources have been used by a number of ITT providers. Andy has worked nationally to improve Religious Education with Culham St Gabriel's, Teach First and the Catholic Education Service. He has worked with local trainee RE teachers on the legal framework of RE.

Andy led the team who organised The London RE Hub in 2015 and 2016, subject knowledge focussed conferences for over 100 RE teachers. He has also been involved in organising TeachMeet London events, some of the largest free CPD conferences held in the U.K. Andy has spoken at a number of events including Westminster Briefings on behaviour management, the Institute of Ideas 'Battle of Ideas' on the value of RE in society and has been invited to present at various other TeachMeets and regional RE training days.

He has published a textbook for the 2016 GCSE Edexcel Religious Studies specification and was involved in a series of Key Stage 3 RE textbooks published in 2017. He is currently writing a GCSE revision guide and editing a new podcast series for GCSE students. Andy was also nominated for TES Teacher Blogger of the Year in 2016 and frequently tweets and blogs about RE and wider education.

He specialises in:

- New changes to the GCSE and A Level RS
- Managing a successful RS department
- Engaging with learners at all levels

Susan Prichard

Susan is an outstanding MFL teacher and as Head of MFL was instrumental in building up an extremely successful MFL department where all students continue to study a language at GCSE level. Susan is an experienced and passionate teacher with extensive experience and the ability to communicate her ideas effectively and enthusiastically. Susan is a Leading Practitioner, SLE and a member of SLT involved in teaching and learning across the school. She works with members of staff in all curriculum areas who have been teaching a number of years but need support to raise achievement and motivation in the classroom. Susan is a skilled coach and has successfully mentored teachers and curriculum leaders who have previously proved difficult to reach. Susan also coordinates the T&L forum which has made an important contribution towards the sharing of good practice across the school. She regularly delivers CPD both inside and outside of school on issues such as marking and feedback, KS5 teaching, lesson planning, AFL, creativity, memorisation, raising motivation, challenge, literacy and developing learner skills.

As an AST Susan worked in many primary and secondary schools across Newham supporting the implementation of new MFL initiatives and mentoring both curriculum leaders and subject teachers. She ran the MFL Secondary Network Meetings for many years and developed an extremely popular upskilling course for primary teachers new to MFL. Susan has considerable experience in putting in place and then implementing action plans to ensure the school's vision is met and students are able to achieve their full potential.

SLE OVERVIEW

She specialises in:

- Coaching outstanding teaching, bespoke CPD
- Observations, feedback, recruitment
- Whole school T&L
- MFL
- Curriculum planning and delivery
- Raising attainment
- Primary MFL

Lucie Racon

Lucie is an Outstanding Science teacher who remains passionate about being in the classroom. She is an experienced Curriculum Leader of Science and has effectively turned round the Science Department of an East London Comprehensive with high levels of EAL, PP and ethnic minorities to get 26% above National average at KS4 and strong Ebacc figures. Lucie is a Leading Practitioner, an SLE, has NPQSL and is a member of SLT involved in teaching and learning. Her work supporting a wide range of teachers across secondary schools and with primary science has improved outcomes for students and the schools involved. She has experience working with Secondary and Primary ITT, Assessment only, NQT and experienced teachers with many responsibilities. Lucie's current whole School priorities for Teaching and Learning are engagement, challenge and feedback to raise attainment. Lucie is adept at analysing data, identifying need and putting a strategic and operational action plan in place to meet the School's vision. She specialises in:

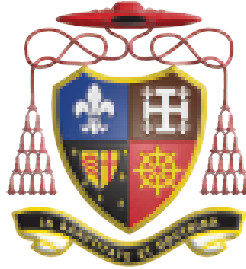

- Teaching and Learning
- Coaching, Outstanding Teaching
- Raising attainment
- Closing the Gap
- Science planning and delivery

Katie Smith

Katie is an Assistant Headteacher, currently Director of Teaching School. She has previously held the posts of Assistant Headteacher, KS5 Teaching and Learning and Director of Social Sciences. She holds an MA in Educational Leadership and has been teaching in Inner London schools for over 14 years. She has set up middle leadership qualifications and has been UCAS lead for many years. She has a particular interest in teaching and learning and has delivered countless CPD on contemporary research in teaching and learning. She specialises in:

- ITT and its changing nature
- Social mobility
- Leadership in education
- Training the next generation of leaders
- UCAS and post 16 progression
