READY-STEADY-CODE grids are now included in SCRATCH by MIT the makers of Scratch

Make sure your School, Cluster, Academy Chain or Education Trust is represented. Come to the Conference for

- ▶ an engaging, hands-on and easy to follow introduction to SCRATCH +Ready-Steady-Code
- ▶ age-appropriate workshops for adults working with children in KS2 and KS3
- ▶ Computational Thinking with SCRATCH and Ready-Steady-Code
- ▶ a Ready-Steady-Code pack containing books, wall charts, great resources and a Scratch mug that will arouse curiosity and get talk about SCRATCH into staff-room conversation

Take a Scratch mug back to your staff room.

Book your Conference place online at:

<http://www.readysteadycode.co.uk> or email

Tickets: £180 (£135 per person if two or more in same booking)

By using Scratch with the Ready-Steady-Code grids, teachers will be able to teach elements of the UK National Curriculum for Mathematics. Scratch +RSC allows pupils to learn and use their computing skills to investigate mathematical problems and find solutions. The particular areas include angles, shapes, area, perimeter, block graphs, pie-charts, linear and quadratic equations, trigonometry, Pythagoras' theorem etc.

OPENZONE
