Pupil Premium Impact Report 2014-15

- Much has been done to improve the provision for disadvantaged pupils at Marsden Primary School. We are determined that all pupils will achieve as highly as possible due to high quality teaching and exceptional interventions. Disabled pupils and those who have special educational needs are supported very well by a range of approaches that leaders and staff consistently apply. Well-targeted individual and small group support effectively enables these pupils to make outstanding progress.
 - Teacher assessment results, from all classes, are regularly analysed and show rapidly improving standards and strong progress measures.
 - The school has used its pupil premium funding very well. Current school data shows a marked narrowing of the gap, when looking at children who are Pupil Premium without specific SEN needs.
 - Pupils who have been identified as Premium Premium have achieved very well and their attainment is rising.
 - The impact of this intervention work is clearly evident in outcomes at the end of key year groups (Reception class, Year 2 and 6).
 - Summary information across all other year groups demonstrates that progress is becoming stronger.
 - Monitoring and evaluation of lessons shows that teachers planning matches the needs of individual pupils. Teachers are held very accountable for ensuring that their lessons are differentiated and pupils are given the correct support and scaffolding to improve their learning so that they make at least expected progress.
 - Policies, procedures and documentation has been reviewed and reorganised. There is consistency across the school.
 - All pupils have access to all school activities and pupils identified as pupil premium or special needs are tracked to ensure that their individual spend is monitored.
 - The emotional support we give to our children on a daily and weekly basis is strong. Overall the effectiveness of the strategies used to improve the attainment of pupil premium children has been good as a result of planning and close monitoring.
