Dear parents,

Next week, our library is hosting a Half Price Book Fair in partnership with Scholastic.

As you know, the school puts high emphasis on encouraging students to read for pleasure and having an opportunity to choose, buy and own their books is one way we are trying to bring excitement to their reading experience.

The book fair stocks over 200 titles at prices that are lower than online marketplaces starting at only £1.50. The wide selection will appeal to both our younger and older readers and includes fiction as well as non-fiction, old and modern classics, graphic novels and popular series. The half price offer also extends to stationery, posters and the ever popular pointers, which are all great Christmas presents for siblings, cousins and aunties.

Please encourage your young people to pop into the library at break or lunch time next week, Monday to Thursday, to browse and buy.

If the fair goes well, our school will receive free books and we already have lots of student suggestions and requests as to which ones to choose.

Thank you for your support - it is greatly appreciated,

Mrs Fogarasi

Library Assistant
